Bethel to meet on retirement fund loans, cemetery grant, rec bridge approaches

By MICHAEL DANIELS

At a special Town Meeting set for Tuesday, Aug. 9, Bethel voters will be asked if they wish to approve three spending items.

None of the three, however, will require the town to raise new revenue. Funding instead will come undesignated fund balance or from outside sources.

The first article will ask voters to authorize creation of an internal loan program to assist town workers in purchasing their share of "past service" in the Maine State Retirement System.

At a special Town Meeting set for Tuesday, Aug. 9, Bethel voters will be asked if they wish to approve three spending items.

The article applies to the time from 1982 until the present, when the town was technically part of the state plan, but was not actively offering employees the opportunity to participate.

It appeared earlier that the two-decade-long oversight could expose the town to a financial liability of more than $100,000.

However, MSRS officials recently recalculated the town's surplus balance in the system

Intersection project set back, scaled down

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Proposed safety improvements at the intersection of the Bethel Station Parkway and Route 2 have been delayed again, and the scope of the overall project has been cut back.

The changes follow a July 27 bid opening where the single bid received by the Maine Department of Transportation was "significantly over" the available budget, according to project engineer Jim Mansir.

Mansir said the initial contract forced the contractor to do too much, too fast.

As a result, he said, MDOT has cut back on the scope of the project and is no longer specifying that all the work be completed this year.

"We just put too many constraints on [the initial contract]," he said. "And by removing some of the work and allowing more time, we hope we'll get better bids."

The project will now go back to bid, he said, and MDOT still hopes to be able to complete its two most significant components — installing flashing lights and clearing sight lines — before winter.

"We really need to get something done this year," Mansir

MDOT hopes for Gray bypass by winter 2007

Relief is finally on the way for motorists looking to escape congestion in the center of Gray village, a meeting point for traffic from the Maine Turnpike and five state routes.

An $8.2 million bypass that would link Route 202 and Route 26 is expected to be completed by 2007, according to the Maine Turnpike Authority and the state Department of Transportation, which are collaborating on the project.

Drivers have long been frustrated by delays in the village, which connects routes 4, 115, 202, 26 and 100, plus Exit 63 of the turnpike. At the busiest times, traffic can be backed up a half mile or more onto the turnpike and more than a mile up Route 26.

"This intersection is a nightmare," said Tim Darnell of Gray, who tries to stay away from the area during the morning rush hour and on Fridays, when vacationers head for the lakes in summer and the ski slopes in winter.

An average of 15,000 vehicles went through Exit 63 each day in 2000, a figure that is expected to increase to 29,000 by

NEARLY 240 MOTORCYCLES SET OFF SATURDAY from the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills, at the start of a 136-mile ride that took them through Rumford, Rangeley, Errol, N.H., then back to Locke Mills for a pig roast and music. The run, now in its third year, is a fund raiser for the Sandon Morgan Scholarship Fund at Telstar Regional High School. Bikers raise $16,000 for CMCC scholarship

By ALISON ALOISIO

Another Telstar High School student will receive a full tuition scholarship to Central Maine Community College, thanks to another successful Skunk Run.

The third annual motorcycle fundraiser, held in memory of Telstar graduate Sandon Morgan, took place Saturday.

The effort raised $16,000, according to organizers.

Morgan died in a motorcycle accident in 2003.

He earned a degree in electromechanical technology from CMCC, and his family decided to honor his memory by each year sending a graduating Telstar senior to the Auburn school. Saturday's events included the bike tour, a pig roast and musical entertainment.

The 136-mile tour started from the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post in Locke Mills and traveled routes 2 and 17 to Oquosoc, then to Route 16 to Errol, N.H. and back down Route 26.

A total of 237 motorcycles and 367 riders — the most riders yet — took part, according to Cheryl Morgan, Sandon's aunt.

That's a similar turnout as last year, and about 100 bikes more than the first year.

"Word is getting around," said Mark Thomas, Sandon's father-in-law. "I know someone, and they know two more and they know two more."

Thomas said there were bikers this year from New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Next year, he expects one from Florida.

He also said a New England motorcycle magazine plans to do a story on the event.

The Skunk Run shared this past weekend with three other motorsport events in the region, including the Maine Forest Rally, the Oxford 250 and the Western Maine European Motorcycle Meet.

Thomas said that the Skunk runners also shared the road with the rally cars for a stretch near Errol, N.H. The organizers had coordinated with each other ahead of time to ensure they did not interfere with each other.

"If a rally car came up behind, the bikes just waved them by," he said.

Thomas said that some bikers took part in the event even though they did not know Sandon or his family personally. "They just enjoy the route and what the money goes to," he said.

They benefited right away from the winter skier business. But they needed more to keep them going.

By ALISON ALOISIO

Three Bethel Village artisans have been at their work collectively for about 90 years — no small accomplishment in the world of arts and crafts.

What keeps them going? High standards of craftsmanship, flexibility, and the ability to educate potential customers about how the craft is produced, according to the owners of Bonnema Potters, Mt. Mann Jewelers and S. Timberlake and Company.

Bonnema Potters Melody and Garrett Bonnema have been making pottery at their Main Street location since 1974.

Then there was the product. "We've worked hard, with really good skills, and created a network around it," she said.

Their pieces include dishes, pots, mugs, tiles and a variety of other items.

In 1989, the Bonnemas gave up wholesaling and went entirely to retail sales.

That same year, they got a large order from Sunday River Ski Resort for lamps to be used to furnish a new condominium.

"It was like advertising," said Melody. "We still have people come in today and buy shade replacements for those lamps."

FIRST LEG KICKS OFF

As a crowd watches from the shore, swimmers approach the second of four buoys on the Songo Pond swimming course in Sunday's Maine State Triathlon. Biking and running legs followed the swim, with a total of 134 men and 107 women competing. Many individuals did all three legs, while teams split up the responsibilities. TRIATHLON THANKS

To the Editor:

The logistics of organizing any big event are mind-boggling. Saying this, it was a total pleasure to orchestrate the 14th annual Maine State Triathlon Classic this past weekend, due to the efforts and support of dozens of sponsors, donors, volunteers and cooperators in and around the Bethel Area! We managed to safely guide nearly 350 triathletes and hundreds of spectators from the Gould Academy check in location, to the Bethel Inn Lakehouse facility on Songo Pond and back to Gould Academy with only one minor incident, which Rodney Harrington (just an uninvolved passer-by who responded) and Bethel Rescue took care of. Many thanks to them!

Food at the finish line was made possible due to the generosity of Don Conant from Conant's Meat & Produce and Coca Cola Bottling of Northern New England. Timing and finish line services were provided by Jordan and Darlene Ginsberg of All Sports Events Timing. Many thanks also to the Oxford County Sheriff, the Bethel Police and Bethel Rescue.

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce needs to acknowledge the following businesses and individuals for helping us to create a top-notch event! First our sponsors: Oxford Networks and Powerade, Midcoast Multisport of Brunswick, the bike leg sponsor, and Sunday River Ski Resort, the host hotel. Additional thanks goes to Gould Academy, the Bethel Inn Resort and Country Club, and the 70 volunteers who made it go like clockwork! They follow: Louisa Abarno, Alison and Joe Aloisio, Courtney Amann, Lynn and Joe Arizzi, Nancy Babcock and Kyler Babcock-Walker, Brianne Bailey, Thea and Roger Beaudoin, Terrie Anne and Dwayne Bennett, Barbara Berger, JoAnne and Burt Best, April and Laura Bolstridge, Marya Brooks, Sue Buckley, Rosemary Bunn, Tim Bruce, Rick Churchill, Brad, Jeb, Caleb, and Livy Clarke, Bob Cloud, Rosie Cross, Mac and Nancy Davis, Carole DeDuca, John DeVivo, Jeff Dewhurst, George Driscoll, Susan Driscoll, Naomi Fraser, Dave Freiday, Sean Friel, Dillon Gillies, Jay Hanscom, Fran Head, Pete Hedden, Tamara Isham, Jim Largess, Eric, Eliot, and Sophie List, Kate Loch, Bob McCartney, Karen McElroy, Rene McGrew, Cathy Newell, Kelly O'Brien, Charles Parsons, Bonnie Pooley, Jim Reuter, Joyce and Pat Roma, Martha, Kirk, Molly, and Andrew Siegel, Ann Speth, Dick Taylor, Chuck Thibodeau, April Tuttle, David Walker, Chris Wall, Paula and Dan Wheeler, Bill White, Tracey Wilkerson, Doug and Matt Zinchuk.

Although many of the athletes do this event as a challenge to themselves, the top finishers do appreciate prizes and recognition. The following prize donors help us to make that possible: Sunday River Ski Resort, Sunday River Inn Cross Country Ski Center, Bethel's Best, True North Adventureware, Bethel Historical Society, Pat's Pizza, and Great Glen Trails.

We trust the community enjoys the benefits of these competitors and their families.

DISTRICT EXCHANGE UPDATE

To the Editor:

The District Exchange Board met on July 27 at the Adult Education office at Telstar. It was decided to schedule a one week shut down for painting and cleaning from Sept. 19 to 25. It was reported that there is still a problem with items being left outside during hours that the Thrift Shop is closed. A new sign will be posted, but the board would like to remind people that items must be brought only during open hours: Monday 1 to 4 p.m.; Thursday 4 to 6 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m. to noon. Special arrangements may be made for those who cannot come during those hours. Please call me at 875-2116 to arrange for someone to unlock. Summer items are being accepted through the end of August. Please wait to bring winter items until after Sept. 25. All items must be in clean, wearable condition. A generous donation was recently made to the District Exchange by the Gold Wing Road Riders during their convention at Sunday River. This is the second year in a row that this group has supported the Exchange Emergency Fund.

THIRTY YEARS OF POTTERY

Melody Bonnema pours glaze onto a plate as her husband, Garrett, looks on. The couple have been in the pottery business on Main Street in Bethel since 1974.

Over the years, they've changed their processes some to boost and improve the business.

At first, everything was done on the potter's wheel. In the early 1980s, they started using molds for some pieces, so that their employees could do more of the work.

The glazes they use have become more intricate over time, Melody said. "We went from using two or three to using five," she said.

Their glazing designs reflect the general landscapes of western Maine, and in the case of tiles, depict specific scenes.

"When [customers] use a mug or look at a tile, they think of Bethel," said Melody.

During the past decade, they have utilized computer technology to reproduce the images Melody has created on tiles. They now scan the tiles and sell the scans.

The Bonnemas said that their longevity has in itself continued to produce business.

For example, National Training Laboratory clients in town for summer classes have also provided business over the years, "and now we have people's children coming here," Melody said.

And, she said, "If someone moves away, a friend from here will send them something, because they know it's from Bethel."

The crafts world in Bethel has become more crowded in recent years, providing more competition, Melody said.

She said that in earlier times, tourists would shop their store looking for a gift or souvenir without anything in particular in mind.

Now, with more choices of crafts, "we get more pottery people," she said.

While they've changed their practices over the years, the Bonnemas don't plan to expand. "We're as big as we want to get," said Melody.

Mt. Mann Jewelers
Like the Bonnemas, jeweler Jim Mann started out as a wholesaler, in 1970.

He mined and cut stones for other jewelers for 19 years. In 1989, he decided to try retailing. "I set up a small store with the idea of working out of the studio, while I was cutting," he said.

From the start, his trademark has been well-made pieces with unusual but simple designs, crafted from Maine gemstones.

He was successful enough to progressively work his store/studio from the back, to the middle, and then to the front of the Main Street building he owns.

Custom jewelry is a big part of his business. He does about 250 pieces a year. And all of the jewelry comes with a hand-written card describing the history of the gem — what mine it came from, and when.

"I depend on word of mouth and happy customers," said Mann. "I ask two things of people [who have purchased jewelry]. Stop in and say hi when they come back to town, and tell a friend [about the jewelry piece]."

Mann said he started using a Web site two years ago, and is optimistic and encouraged by its growth.

Mann has also made a priority of showing the customer the jewelry making process.

He brings customers and school children to his upstairs studio to see the stone-cutting. And he educates them on where the gemstones come from.

In 1996, he opened a "Crystal Cave" in the basement of the store. It offers kids a chance to pick through and identify 20 different kinds of gems and minerals.

The following year, he set up a rock museum at the front of the store, with a variety of gems and minerals on display. "We can show people what the stones look like before they're cut," he said.

2001 brought the first Rock 'N' Yard Sale and Auction, held in conjunction with Bethel's annual Gem and Mineral Show.

Mann's offerings included free rocks for kids (of all ages), a dollar table and smorgasbord rock sale, an auction of jewelry, gems and minerals, as well as an opportunity for customers to make ornaments using mica.

Despite the growth of the business, Mann said, he makes a point to continue getting out in the field to look for his raw materials.

"I still have my hand in mining today," he said. "It lets me keep playing in the rocks."

S. Timberlake Co.

Ross Timberlake of S. Timberlake Co., makers of Shaker furniture and woodenware, has been with the company since he and his parents established it in 1974. They found a winning formula and have stuck with it, he said.

"We started as a mail-order business, and that's still 90 percent of our business," said Timberlake. "The longer you stay doing what you do well, the greater the chances of succeeding in mail order. We haven't strayed away from our product line."

They produce handmade Shaker chairs, bureaus, stools and a variety of woodenware and gifts, and ship them around the world. His wife, Carol, creates most of the woodenware and helps him with the furniture.

Like Mann, Timberlake does a significant custom-made business. "That's gone through the roof in the last three years," he said. "What I hear most often is, 'I can't find anyone to do this.' We can."

The business went to the Internet early, in 1994. "We were the first furniture makers in Maine to have a Web presence," said Timberlake. "It gives us all the business we can handle."

He said that over time, the Web site has been the most important addition to the business.

Educating customers is also a priority for Timberlake. "It's such an important sales point," he said.

He said people look at a piece with a relatively expensive price tag and don't always understand the effort required to create it.

"It looks simple," he said. "But we show them how we get there."

He takes people through the shop to show them the crafting process, and they come away with a better understanding and appreciation for it.

In 2001, S. Timberlake relocated from Bethel Village to Route 2 in Mayville, in order to be more visible.

Timberlake is now trying to build more foot traffic. He said he doesn't get a lot of skier traffic in the winter — but he does get business from the skiers the rest of the year. They notice his sign, go home, look him up on the Internet and order something, he said.

In addition to the creativity inherent in the business, Timberlake said it's also important to "do business creatively."

For customers who travel to Bethel to pick up their furniture pieces after ordering them, that includes arranging discounts with local inns or restaurants.

And he doesn't forget the roots from which his craft originated.

He encourages people to make donations to Shaker preservation organizations, he said, "to give back to the legacy that's been so good to us."

Caution urged on So. Arm Road

ANDOVER — Drivers using the South Arm Road in Andover can expect to encounter construction crews for the remainder of this year's construction season and early next year's, according to the Maine Department of Transportation. "We have started work on building a replacement for the Black Brook Bridge, carrying the South Arm Road over Black Brook approximately two and one-half miles north of the intersection of the South Arm Road and Route 120 in Andover," said Don Falardeau, Maine DOT's construction manager on the project. "During the replacement project, traffic will use a temporary bypass bridge, which will carry alternating one-way traffic." The road will remain open to forest products vehicles, campers destined for South Arm Campground, and others wishing to access the area beyond the bridge, but Falardeau urged drivers to use extreme caution approaching and passing through the work area. "The temporary bridge and temporary approach road leading to it will require a lower speed and more driver attention than the old bridge and approach road," he said. The project, awarded to T-Buck Construction, Inc. of Auburn on a bid of nearly $521,000, calls for completion of all work on the project by next June 1.

At 1:30 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White and Officer Buddy Richard recovered a silver and black mountain bike on Lovers Lane. The bike was brought to the PD. A check of the serial number indicated it had not been reported stolen.

At 2 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White and Officer Buddy Richard received a complaint of a woods party off Highland Avenue. Police planned to check the area and asked the complainant to contact the PD if there are more occurrences.

At 6:39 p.m. Officer Buddy Richard assisted Bethel Rescue on Riverside Lane.

At 11:35 p.m. Officer Mac McCormick received a report of a loud party on Mason Street. It was quiet when the officer arrived.

CHECKING OUT THE SPECIALS

Maine Gov. John Baldacci was in town last Thursday for several events, including a discussion of the Dirigo Choice health insurance program. The event was held at Bethel's Best Pizza, where co-owner Robin Mills followed up by tempting the governor — a restaurateur himself — with the day's specials. Mills and her husband, Scott, are enrolled in the health plan. On Aug. 17, the Chamber Community Breakfast in Bethel will feature a presentation on Dirigo by the Governor's Office of Health Policy and local insurance representatives.

said. "This is a safety issue and I think getting those beacons up and cleaning up the sight lines will really make people aware of what's going on."

Put off until the next construction season will be earthwork, including consolidating the driveways of the Rite Aid and Crossroad Diner, and placing a concrete island to "calm traffic," Mansir said.

Since the contractor will not be confined by the weather needed for paving, he said, there will be additional month available for the work that is proposed.

MDOT has also dropped plans for constructing a sidewalk from the overpass to the intersection.

That idea for a sidewalk came from a public hearing on the intersection.

"It wasn't part of the original scope of work," Mansir said. "It did seem like a worthwhile project if we had the money to do it, but we don't."

(Because the project is going back to bid, Mansir declined to say how much money MDOT has earmarked for the work.)

The intersection is classified by MDOT as a "high crash location." Nine traffic lanes and three business driveways merge at the intersection, amidst a confusing clutter of signs, utility poles and, in the winter, snowbanks.

Since it was constructed in 1995, the intersection has been the site of numerous collisions, including one in 2000 that resulted in a fatality.

Town officials have long argued for a traffic light to be installed at the intersection, but MDOT has steadfastly maintained the accident rate does not warrant a light.

Last month a Lisbon woman who was visiting family in Bethel was critically injured when she pulled out of the Rite Aid driveway into the path of a loaded logging truck.

As of Tuesday, the woman, Beverly Fecteau, 73, was still at Central Maine Medical Center, where she was listed in fair condition.

2025, according to Guy Whittington, the Department of Transportation's project manager.

The number of vehicles using Route 26 north of Gray is expected to grow from 17,800 to 29,500.

The northern end of the bypass would run parallel to the turnpike for about a mile before connecting with Route 202 west of the turnpike. The work also includes improvements to Route 202, the addition of two lanes to the Route 202 bridge and the widening of the toll plaza area.

The project will likely be put out to bid around November, Whittington said, and could take two full seasons to complete.

"The real goal will be having put pavement down before the winter shutdown of 2007," he said.

Ernest and Alberta Angvine and daughter, Judy Coolidge, were recently in Boston and vicinity. They rode the Down Easter to visit Jessie Coolidge at her condo in Quincy. They enjoyed the Boston Duck Tower, Science Museum, and John Kennedy's Memorial. Jessie drove them around to see all the sights and all agreed she had become a "city girl."

Norm and Sylvia Clanton are enjoying a visit from their son, Mark, and his family, Set-suko and Shintaro, from Yokosuka, Japan. Mark is assigned as Air Force liaison officer to the Navy's Pacific Fleet. He expects to be reassigned soon but is seeing a lot of the Asian world in the meantime, primarily from aboard ship.

Kathryn Drown and Virginia Mosher from Randolph, N.H., cousins of Earlon Keniston visited recently with him and his wife, Mary. They enjoyed lunch at a local restaurant, but Earlon was unable to join the ladies.

Edna York has moved from the hospital following surgery, to the Norway Rehab and Living Center, Marion Ave., Norway. She will be there for a few weeks for physical therapy.

Janice Cross and sister, Honey Bailey walk early weekday mornings at the Bethel Pathway. One Sunday morning recently Janice walked alone. As she was finishing her walk near route 26, a big black bear appeared in front of her. His paws were wet so she assumes he came up from the river. She stopped still staring at him and he stopped and stared at her. The he turned and crossed route 26 down into the woods.

Jodie Carona and four children of Monk's Corner S.C. and sister, Michelle Rossignol of Casco had lunch one day this week with their great aunt Mary Rice Keniston and husband, Earlon (Lefty). Jodie has visited this summer with her camper at her sister's in Casco, since her grandfather's memorial service in June in Bethel. She and her family will drive home on Friday. Another reason for her visit in Bethel was to obtain official signatures for permission for a special Navy headstone to be placed in the Songo Cemetery.

Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge beat the heat with a great game on Friday. The winners were: first, Pete Cummings and Dick Allen; second, Nancy Woods and Suzanne Andrews; third, Anna Cormier and Woody Mercier; and fourth, Pat and Mike Quinn. Also placing were Donna and Ozzie Swett.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

August has arrived. The summer is more than halfway over.

Ideal temperatures in the 70s with mild breezes prevail. We should count our most recent blessings and forget those rainy, cold days of June. The mosquitoes have diminished and those miserable black flies have gone for another year. I guess no one needs or wants their presence except birds and bats. Good riddance.

I had a call from my sister, Margaret Hallen, from LeMoo, Calif. I began to appreciate our cool down when she informed me that the temperature there was 105 degrees without a breeze to be felt.

Last week, Barbara Stratton took a tumble down the incline on the lake side of her property. She fractured her ankle and no one was around to assist her, so she sat up and pulled her injured leg up the hill on her backside until she reached a phone. It was quite a distance and it took perseverance and guts to get to the camp. The pain was excruciating. She is now recovering at Birch Point following surgery. Barbara will have a great deal of difficulty passing through the metal detector at the airport when she goes to Italy next month.

Wilma Rector and Clyde Stratton are attending a Property Assessment course this week at U.M. Orono.

"Atta Girl" to Jessica Casey who made the honor roll at the Crescent Park School.

Although we have only eight children in school, we are proud to have consistent honor roll students from Upton.

Saturday Aug. 6, is Old Home Days in our neighboring town of Andover. We look forward to their parade and many events prepared by some very dedicated people. Way to go Andover!

We will miss reading Gil Seely's very fine column on North Newry. At 97 years young, she has a wonderful mind. What a lady! We always looked forward to her short but inspiring words each week.

Visitors to Upton this week were Phyllis Williamson Stevens, Chie Floyd Stapleton, Cathleen Rupy and Edward Poplawski.

New pavement on Route 26 has encouraged our Canadian neighbors to travel south. The dollar evaluation has given them more freedom to travel in the states. Just between you and I, it's the "cheap" gas that's available here. "Yeah!" It's $4 a gallon Canada.

Sandy and Gene Wixom have returned from a three-week vacation in Newfoundland. They said it was a wonderful place with great people, but lots of foggy days. Gene was disappointed to find that there are no clams in Newfoundland.

He had to return to Maine for a plate of steamers, Red Tide and all.

The Queen Anne's lace and golden rod are in full bloom; a sure sign that summer is waning. The swallows have flown south again but we still have many birds. The hummingbird families have grown, making it difficult to keep the feeders filled. They are so aggressive with each other but so much fun to watch.

Sunday afternoon, there were very few boats. Campsites were vacated at the wilderness sites. Kayakers continue to hug the shore. It was a beautiful day with calm waters. Occasional flocks of ducks, a loon or two and ospreys were seen. Let's not forget the seagulls who have executed an amazing white-wash job on a rock near Fox Island.

We passed an osprey nest in a tall pine. Two birds emerged to circle and glide over the water. Mama bird took a sharp dive into the lake and rose into the air with a fish in her talons. Baby bird promptly attacked her knocking the fish into the water. The greedy brat deserved to have no supper that night.

The osprey is the "Bird of the Week."

River Alpacas last Tuesday. The two Great Pyrenees guard dogs are growing up, and their barks sound as if they are quite big, which they are, and growing bigger.

Now they have something to guard. Not only Scrawny and her sister chickens, but now four adult female alpacas and two youngsters are in residence on the Flat Road. Another six are due to arrive in the next week or two. The ladies are Pumpkin, Androscoggin, Eureka, and Sensation. I saw them about an hour after they had been dropped off, and they were still a bit confused at the change in their lives.

Because the 'pacas need time to acclimate, Maureen and Jeff have asked that no visitors come by for a while. They will make an announcement as soon as the critters are "at home" to guests. Meanwhile, pastures have been fenced, the barn reconfigured, and the chickens installed in their coop, with a roost that Emerson Clough very kindly sold to Maureen.

The Thursday Morning Kaffee Klatsch met at the Café at Bethel Outdoor Adventures last week. We all got a bird's-eye view of the new snowmobile/walking bridge being installed over the river. What I thought was the bridge turns out to be temporary superstructure from which the workers were able to erect the stanchions for the bridge sections, which were manufactured in Kingfield.

The Café is quite pleasant, and the coffee and pastries delicious. Jeff Parsons treated us to a sample of his Two Rivers Tea, a mix of tea from the Bramaputra River in India and mint grown along the shores of the Androscoggin. Very tasty.

In talking with Chris Trefethen, I learned that son Elliot List has been taking horseback-riding lessons and will go to a riding camp next week. Elliot attended the soccer camp at Gould week before last. He and sister Sophie are both having swimming lessons as well. Chris says she is enjoying just being Mom this summer, and loving it. She is neither studying nor working outside the home until fall. She and husband Eric List have been riding their bikes a lot, with Sophie in the Tag-Along, and Elliot on his own bike.

The Pleasant River Grange

held its monthly meeting and potluck last Thursday night. Jane Hosterman marveled at how delicious these suppers always are. She has been working at the Grange Flea Market on weekends and reports that it is showing some profit, which will be used to further Grange activities.

Can you believe a trip to Marden's without buying anything? That's just what Barbara Mahler and Jane Hosterman did last week. But they had lunch and an interesting drive, and Barbara fulfilled an appointment.

I hope you're enjoying the pleasant, more typically Maine summer weather. Please call or write with news: 836-3011; dhoeh@mega-link.net.

There were 89 people attending, from as far as Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, New Jersey, Kansas, Louisiana, Maryland and Michigan. In-state they came from Norway, Gardiner, Roxbury, Rumford, Mexico, Gilead, Dixfield, Lisbon Falls, Auburn and Andover.

Mrs. White was the former Juliette Parent Frye. She and her husband, Norman, lived in East Andover for many years. He died in 1998. She now lives at Elderwood Manor in Andover. Her birthday was July 20. She received many cards and gifts, and her favorite carrot cake was served. A nice time was had by all.

Polly and Dick Johnston are in town visiting friends for a couple of weeks.

See everyone at the festivities.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

Well, we decided to relax this weekend and do something else besides work on the house. The weather was very cooperative with our plans.

We took off early Saturday morning and headed for Monmouth. There was an auction happening there that was advertised in the Lewiston paper. There was quite a list of interesting items, so we checked them out on the website that was given in the paper. We got there early enough to preview the items and check things out. It was a lot of fun, but most of the items were high priced and well worth it. Serious collectors quickly snapped up the few things that we were interested in. Needless to say, we enjoyed ourselves, but walked away without any purchases.

THE ANDY VALLEY WEST 11-YEAR OLD ALL STAR TEAM Corey Howard, Devin Vail, Tyler Brown (front); Jeb Clarke and Dan Whitney (back) played on The Andy Valley West 11-year-old All Star Team that won the recent Sebago-Long Lake Invitational Tournament. On Sunday, the boys won three games, to win the tournament. The Bethel/Gilead boys played with other players from the Norway/South Paris area, including Kurt Morgan, formerly of Greenwood. The boys will be joined by Casey Thornton and will be playing in the State 11-and-under tournament this week in Richmond.

Next order of the day was lunch. After we ate, we headed toward Lewiston and stopped at numerous yard sales along the way and right into the Norway/South Paris area. We had much better luck at the yard sales and found quite a few interesting items and good bargains. I have been collecting the little houses to add to my Christmas village scene and found quite a few of those. My grandchildren really enjoyed the lighted houses I put up last year.

We decided that Sunday was a good day to get the things done that we didn't do on Saturday. I headed for the office to catch up on some paperwork for the Gilead Historical Society, and Hugh took advantage of a nice day to clean the Jeep inside and out. Looks pretty good.

He took a break after lunch and helped Dan Cole with the mowing between the railroad tracks and Route 2. It really looks nice with all that grass cut on both sides of Bridge Street.

Jerry Loring stopped by while they were working on cutting the grass. Thanks to Jerry for letting them use his riding lawn mower. It certainly has been a big help in keeping such a large area mowed.

I had a call from my brother, Steve McLain, and he mentioned a couple of things I want to pass along. His son, Capt. Stephen McLain, and family have reached Mississippi, where he will be starting up his next assignment. They are settling into their new home.

My brother also told me about the conference that he and Tom Sweetser went to last Thursday in relation to their job at SAD44. The Maine Association for Pupil Transportation sponsored the event, held

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

"It's not the heat, it's the humidity!" That's a statement I've heard a lot of this summer. Even though we have had a few beautiful warm and dry weekends in a row, for the most part, it has been a hot and humid summer.

This past month I have done one heck of a lot of sweating in unmentionable areas of my body as well as a steady trickle of sweat off the end of my nose. The only positive side of that is the more I sweat, the fewer trips to the bathroom I have to make. That's a good thing because peeling off clothing that is stuck to the body and then trying to put it back in place again is most unpleasant.

Sweating is supposed to be nature's way of cooling the body down. I don't think nature is working all that well because I sure don't feel any cooler.

Fortunately, I work in an air-conditioned environment, but I certainly do sympathize with those who don't. My days of being a factory worker are not so far behind me that I can't remember how miserable that was.

One day last week when it was in the high 90's and humid enough that you could wring moisture out of wood, I saw a man operating a steamroller. Now, there's a job that has to rank way up there as one of the worst to do in hot and humid weather. As I drove by in my air-conditioned car on my way to my air-conditioned office I decided that I didn't have much to complain about of being uncomfortable.

I know management will hate me for saying this, but people who hate to work in unfavorable hot conditions should be paid a whole lot more during the summer.

I can only imagine what it would have been like to operate a steamroller in those parts of the country that have seen many 100+ degree days lately. In some parts of the United States it's been so hot that the chickens have been laying hard-boiled eggs.

In spite of the heat, things have become quite pleasant in my bedroom. I guess you could say I have a new love of a sort with the name of Frigidair. A Father's Day gift this year was an energy efficient air-conditioner, and let me tell you, mother is enjoying it just as much as father.

In some parts of the United States it's been so hot that the chickens have been laying hard-boiled eggs.

I can't say that I'm crazy about the constant hum of the darn thing, but I sure do like not tossing and turning and sweating all night long. I do appreciate not having clammy sheets and twisted blankets. And, I don't think that the drone of the air-conditioner is any worse than the whirring of the fans we used to use.

This unit even has a remote control so we can turn it off or on, up or down without getting out of bed. Modern technology is so wonderful.

Long before the invention of air-conditioners people tried to come up with ingenious ways of cooling down when it was hot. One of the first bright ideas for cooling things off was discovered in India over 2,000 years ago. The Indians found that if they hung wet grass mats over the openings on the windward side of their homes, when the warm wind struck the cooler wet grass, it produced evaporation and cooled the inside temperature as much as 90 degrees. Unfortunately, someone, probably the wife, had to keep getting up during the night to put more water on the grass mats. I guess if you didn't have a windward side on your home, you were out of luck.

Air-conditioning was invented in 1914 by Willis Carrier, not for the comfort of people, but the quality of printing done by a lithographer in Brooklyn, New York. Heat and humidity raised havoc with the paper and ink, but Carrier's creation kept everything at a pretty constant temperature.

In 1919 the first air-conditioned movie house opened in Chicago. People flocked to the movies more to be cooled off than entertained. A few years later air-conditioned restaurants, department stores, hotels and office buildings were installing this wonderful invention left and right. I still see signs in restaurants and motels boasting that they are air-conditioned. Seems a waste of sign space to me because everyone assumes that these types of places would be so equipped.

That certainly wasn't the case in the first few decades of the 1900's. Department stores and office buildings that did have air-conditioning raved about the large increase in worker productivity. Employees found the air-conditioning a new incentive for going to work earlier and staying later. I know there have been a few very hot days in the past when I arrived at work early and stayed late just to enjoy the coolness. I can't say that I was all that productive, but I was there.

But, now I have an air-conditioned bedroom to hang around. It certainly takes care of the heat and the humidity. The constant hum of the unit does annoy me a bit, but the way I see it that's just not something to sweat over.

DBA: Fountain of Wisdom

Anne Stuer, a certified Usui Reiki II practitioner, has added a new technique to her healing methods at her Fountain of Wisdom practice at 15 Tyler Street in Bethel. Sound healing uses special tuning forks placed on acupuncture points on the body. The forks are tuned to the orbital properties of the earth, moon, sun and planets. The system heals by harmonizing the body, mind and spirit with the heavenly bodies. Stuer's other techniques include Reiki and Aqua-Qi foot treatment, both designed to promote relaxation as well as other benefits. For an appointment, call 824-3300.

at Sugarloaf/USA, Carrabassett Valley. The whole purpose of the conference is to educate those involved in pupil transportation in how to insure the safety of the students. Some of the bus drivers also went. It is good to know that the safety of the children who ride on the SAD44 buses is in the hands of qualified mechanics, who service the buses, and bus drivers, who deliver the children to school.

I realized that when I was checking my notes for this week's column, I had left off a couple of things last week.

I wanted to mention that Gerard Dupont participated in the Car Show on Mollycoddett Day. His daughter, Lise McLain, went with him.

The other thing that I left off was related to the town. Beverley Corriveau had received the June issue of the Oxford County Recycler, and wanted the residents of Gilead to know that Gilead received mention regarding the weight of the cardboard container that was picked up. During the month of June OCRSWC had received 31 containers from eight towns reaching 1,000 pounds or over. The heaviest was 1,520 pounds. Bob Noyes was one of the transfer station attendants that was congratulated for having a container that weighed in at 1,240 pounds. The newsletter also mentioned that Gilead is one of the towns that are recycling at no cost to the taxpayers because the tonnage goal was met for overall recycling instead of trashing.

Planning Board

This is just a reminder that the Planning Board is having a regular meeting on Thursday, Aug. 4, at the Town Hall at 7 p.m. There are presently two openings on the board, so now is the time to speak to the selectmen if anyone is interested.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

Over the past weekend, Carrie and Ed McPherson of Newry Corner had their 7th annual Pig Roast. Served along with it were baked beans, beef and turkey. Lots of campers spent the weekend, relaxing and enjoying entertainment by a DJ on Saturday evening. All contributed by adding salads, desserts, etc., to the meal. Attending from Newry were Sandee and Leon Dunn; Loretta Berry; Ed Powers; Teri Littlehale; Brad, Brenda, Kurt, Katie and Kevin Wight; John and Nancy Wight; Marjorie and Jimmy Osgood, Wade, Erin and TJ; Dick and Betsy Clark. For those staying overnight in RVs and campers a full breakfast was served. About 170 people enjoyed the festivities.

Last week, when I was out early to put up a birdfeeder, a lovely adult fox was walking through the yard. Sandee Dunn said she saw one close to her home as well. I hear they like cats. I have three and will keep them in at night.

Parker Gray is leaving today for La Parva, Chili. He will be representing Killington Mountain School in Killington, Vt., as a ski coach. Parker will spend 16 days with two other coaches and 21 students ages 15 to 21 years old. When he returns we'll get an update on what it was like during his time there. Congratulations on both his recent engagement to Jennifer Moore and his new career with the Killington Mountain School this fall.

Saturday evening was spent in Rumford attending my high school reunion. It was a wonderful gathering and the food preparation very well done by the personnel at Park Place. Rosabelle Tiff and I were on a committee of seven to help get responses and attendees. We numbered about 70 with classmates, wives, husbands and friends who helped make this 55th reunion feel like it really hadn't been five years since we were last together.

After the reunion, I drove up to Roxbury Pond and spent the evening with my brother and his wife. It was a nice visit, as I hadn't seen Saul since they moved up to the pond in May. Johan and I often have lunch together in Rumford.

On my way home, I stopped at Eleanor and Norman Davis' to see the flowers and vegetables they are raising. I knew Norman is knowledgeable of minerals and stones, but I didn't know he has a small shop on the ground floor where you can purchase jewelry. He has a small stand set up near the road where a few cacti and plants are for sale with proceeds benefiting the Library Fund. At the time I stopped in, Norman was helping Leslie Robinson get hay over at Valentine's on the North Road in Bethel.

Bridge work where Branch Brook joins Bear River is in progress. At this time, traffic has not been stopped, as the work is being done on the right side of the bridge as you travel north. But I have noticed that plings and cement barriers are nearby at the temporary work site that has been set up — so it probably won't be too long before we will be stopping for the lights that in-ready.

Thanks for the special note, Bea.

Just now as I was checking my calendar for the Thursday "Citizen's" date, I noticed that today, August 4, is the birthday of the United States Coast Guard. I hope you all join me in wishing all the men and women engaged in the defense of our shores a happy and uneventful birthday!

Mona and I spent a few nights in our camper at Crocker Pond Campground last week. It was a very relaxing and beautiful place to "get away from it all" for a few hours every evening. We still went home and attended to business during the day, about a 10-mile trip each way. The nights were especially dark and quiet there; that is, until we heard the mouse chewing on something under our bed. Of course, the bed is built in and cannot really be moved.

As soon as we got home, Mona went to work trying to figure out how the little critter, which we haven't found yet, got into the camper. We found no holes in the floor or in any of the walls and cupboards inside the camper.

Then Mona took all the bedding from the camper into the house to wash it. She took a vacuum cleaner out to the camper and vacuumed the rug and all the storage nooks in the camper. No mouse or holes found.

The only thing we can figure is that the little critter must have crawled up the electric cable and through the hole in the access door while the camper was plugged in at home. One way or another we will get rid of that mouse!

While camping, we found another couple problems. The camper battery, similar to a car battery, seemed to be running down, as the lights kept going dim without the generator constantly running. I guess it is getting tired after three years of being charged and re-charged.

We also attempted to erect the new screen house that Mona found at a bargain price. This was a real adventure. The first things we encountered were a whole pile of white metal rods, each one about 24 inches long with one end tapered so that it would fit easily into the big end of another rod. Assembled, these rods formed the four legs and the frame of the top of the screen house. Trouble was, the rods fit loosely together so that every time you picked up an assembled leg, one or more of the rods fell loose and rattled to the ground. After about 45 minutes and lots of cursing, we had the rods all connected together and stuck into the plastic corner pieces and got the frame stood on the ground, with only one of the pointy little plastic leg ends missing.

Then we attempted to drag the roof and sides (all one piece) over the side of the wobbly rod-leg tent frame so as to complete the screen room — without knocking down the whole apparatus, which leaned precariously as we struggled with the fabric.

Finally, we got the green roof over the roof frame, the white nylon leg strips covering the four corner post legs and the white netting material in between. Only one thing was wrong now; the sides lacked about six inches of touching the ground.

Damned difficult to keep the deer flies out with this worthless contraption. Maybe these little metal wire tent stakes will pull the sides down. Well, maybe they would if we could drive the little stakes into the ground, not possible if you hit solid rock with every stake.

After staring at this flimsy apparition with the appearance of a fat ballerina whose tights were two sizes too small for three days, we happily dismantled it and debated whether it was worth taking home. It is now at home, but on probation, awaiting the decision on whether it is worth the struggle to erect with no assurance of being able to keep the bugs out.

day and barbecue will be Saturday, Aug. 13, rain or shine, at the field on the Martin Road. All players, coaches, parents, alumni, neighbors and friends are invited to attend. Please feel free to bring salads and desserts.

Congratulations to the RPA 15-year-old all-star team, coached by Jeff Fleet, Dan Stearns and Ed McPherson, for being the runner-up in the recent state tournament after winning the District 3 tournament for the third year in a row. It is believed to be the best showing by a local team in a state tournament ever.

Rumford Point players include Mike Fleet, Adam Stearns, Cody McPherson and Matt Rolfe. Great job, guys!

The Gardner Roberts Memorial Library Moving Fund got a great visual boost last week when Mark Beaudoin of Brushmarx donated a sign that shows an eight-foot tall thermometer. The sign will gauge the growth of donations for the moving fund as they stretch toward the $25,000 goal. The sign has been installed at the Town Office near the designated future location of the library.

Meanwhile, Barb and Irv Robinson, the two bicyclers who are traveling across the country to raise funds for the library moving project, at last report were in Williston, N.Dak. Usually they travel about 60 miles a day, but on two recent days they went 90 miles and 80 miles with a good tailwind. They will soon be in Montana and they feel as though they are ahead of schedule.

You can check their progress on the Internet by logging onto www.barbandirv.com and under "Current Status" type in user name "howard" and the password "pond," using all small letters. Also on their website are many pictures the Robinsons have taken along the way. Picture postcards sent back are on display at the Hanover Town Office along with a map that shows their travel route.

The scheduled meeting for Gardner Roberts Memorial Library is still scheduled for Friday, Aug. 5, at 7 p.m. at the town office. There will be refreshments. This meeting is for anyone interested in the library and the moving project. That would also be a good time to bring donations of items for the yard sale or to let the committee know where to pick things up. They have asked that no clothes or appliances be donated.

It began last Friday just after 5 a.m. Residents along the Howard Pond Road and Main Street portion of Hanover have no further need for alarm clocks. That is when logging operations began on the nearly 400-acre woodlot to the north and east of Hanover village. The lot, previously owned by Meadwestvaco, is being logged for the LaC-carthage Company from Jackman. A forester for the company said he expected the operation to continue for about a month.

East Stoneham

Stoneham
Hi readers. Today is nice and not so hot.

Yesterday, Albert and I went to Norway and got the everlasting groceries and pills.

Everett Andrews stopped in one evening recently and told us that his mother, Loretta, is now at the Market Square Nursing Home, South Paris, for recuperation and therapy. I am sure she would like cards.

You know what? Albert did find some homemade piccalilli down in the cellar shelves. It is over a year old but still good. I do want to make some more when the green tomatoes are ready.

Remember, the Stoneham Town Office will be closed on Friday, Aug. 5 and open on Saturday, Aug. 6 from 9 a.m. to noon. It will be closed Saturday, Aug. 13.

Readers, we still have a nice parlor wood-burning stove to get rid of. It is a real nice one that takes big junks and the top lifts back for to make a flat top for a teakettle, etc. It is called "salt and pepper" top. Come make an offer.

Church services will be at East Stoneham beginning Aug. 7. See you there at 10 a.m.

On Aug. 9, the Oxford County Republicans will be meeting at the Fryeburg Fairgrounds for 5:30 p.m. social hour, supper at 6:30 p.m., and meeting to follow. See you there. This always has a good turnout of people.

When we were in Norway yesterday we saw Peter and Pat Parent a few minutes at KFC and they said to say hello to all their friends. He has been called to preach in Massachusetts and will be moving there this next week.

Okay, on Friday, July 22, Frances Grant and I went to the Senior Citizens free dinner at the North Waterford Fairgrounds. We were not the only ones there by any means. I think there were almost 200 people there. The dance hall was packed full and Dr. Murch and helpers put on a good meal as always. Thanks, Dr. Murch, for doing this. It is appreciated. We sat with friends and enjoyed the company and day and meal and especially the music. I hope we are all around for it another year. Now, I must get this off to the post office or you will not be reading it.

Debbie Brown, Ann Fitzmorris, and Lorene Mills attended a

Worship Conference in Burlington, Vt., at the Community Bible Church from Thursday through Saturday. They stayed at a hotel in nearby Colchester.

On Tuesday evening, Ann Fitzmorris, Lorene Mills and Lorraine Larson, accompanied Debbie Brown to East Andover where they attended a Pampered Chef party at the home of Justin and Mary Thacker. Pastor Justin was at a church board meeting with board members Owen Brown, Roger Chopping, and Crystal Lake.

Sometimes it seems it is not always a good idea to do things too well. While Pastor and Mary were on a two-week vacation, I took over Mary's Sunday School class and Pastor said he heard good reports (I think maybe a might inflated) from that so would I consider teaching a course on Wednesday nights? Of course, I could not refuse, but I got thinking maybe it might be fun so I sort of worked myself into a job for a few weeks. I could use your prayers.

I was having trouble with my back so I have been going through therapy in Norway three days a week. I have found that my age is no excuse, as the therapist has been putting me through a series of exercises that I thought it would be impossible to do. I wonder what my grandmother would have thought if she had been asked to do them way back when.

changes, as she isn't able to get down and see it.

Ann Holt was up to see Rena one day this last week, and they had a good visit.

Marie went Saturday to her family reunion (Bragg Reunion) in North Paris. A lot of people were there and she found out information about her family that she didn't know, as she has been here with Rena and hasn't been over to visit her mom and dad. Albert stayed home to be with Rena, and her niece, Maxine, from Poland came to visit. They had a real good visit and Rena was glad that she came.

Several family members were here to see Rena on Sunday. Also, Marie and Albert's children and grandchildren visited. They are in and out all the time and tell her what they have been doing.

Lillian and Glenn were here Saturday and two grandchildren went back with them.

Lillian and Glenn went to Glenn's class reunion Saturday night. Wayne and Anita were also at the reunion.

The bear has been back this last week. It paid Al and Marie a visit and went by mom's outside light so it was turned. Thank God the birdfeeder was empty.

Leonas and Faye Holt's house is all freshly painted, and we see that they are getting the fields mowed.

Ann Holt took Mary to Boston for an eye appointment one day last week.

Bob is undergoing blood treatments at Kennebec Valley Hospital, Augusta. Hope everything is all right.

PERFECT WEATHER FOR MOTORCYCLES—The sixth annual Western Maine European Motorcycle Meet took place this past weekend at Sunday River's Grand Jordan Hotel. Telstar Car Show. Over 140 entries were in the show. It was wonderful how many classic cars were there. The old cars are such beauties because you could see such a difference in every make. Also at the show were imports, motorcycles, trucks and tractors.

Ernie Nieberle won first place in the tractor show. Don Hoyt won in one of the classic car categories. I believe another Bryant Pond resident won a trophy. Unfortunately, I did not write the names down and thought I would remember. I believe it was a Fairlane car the person was driving.

The people in charge of the show did a really good job, everyone was friendly and the food was good.

Okay, who is that man driving a Harley Davidson cycle, without a beard on his face? I did not recognize him, but it is Mr. Gut. Sometimes I see him and his wife walking in the village.

Grandchildren came to visit and we went to Lost River, North Woodstock, N.H. The girls loved it because as you climbed up to the top of the gorge you could climb through caves. Great fun. It was cool on a hot day and it was a challenge going through the caves.

Sympathy is extended to several families in Bryant Pond on the loss of a family member.

As everyone can see, the view from the top of Merryfield Hill is so panoramic of Mt. Washington now.

Quite a few local people went to see the Loudon races in New Hampshire. The Matt Cushman and Tom Gaudreau and friends attended.

Charlie Reese has been riding his bicycle from home to Bethel. How does he do it? The hills, the humid weather, the distance. Again, if you have not seen him he is the one sitting low way back with his legs stretched out in front. It is an unusual bike.

Charlie, Katrina and family were in Rockport, Mass., for a family reunion. Rockport is a coastal town north of Boston.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m.; morning worship at 10:30 a.m.; choir practice at 5 p.m.; and evening service at 6 p.m.; Wednesday evening is prayer meeting at 6:30 p.m.; Thursday morning at 9 a.m. is ladies prayer time.

Sympathy is extended to the family of June Sweetser.

Donations at the Historical Society Museum recently are a large cloth doll for the children's high chair and Milton Mills gave a couple of old pictures.

History Day is Aug. 6 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Inside will be exhibits, demonstrations and food tables. Outside in the parking lot are craft tables. Tours of the museum will be given. Plan to attend. Larry plans an art exhibit for that day. He also has handouts for visitors.

The family and knows everything that is going on. Her mind is as sharp as a teenager and can remember everything from years past as well as keeping up on current news. Claribel is my sister-in-law and I wish her the best.

Richard finally has made two trips to Wal-Mart. All these years he never went to the store, but this week he needed boots, so we went — here else — to Wal-Mart. He was very interested in all the things they have to offer. I am sure he will make many trips here from now on.

Sympathy goes out to the family and many friends of one Sweetser who died this past week.

She was well known in this area and lived in Woodstock most of her life.

Kellie brought a special decorated cake she had made (like a flag) for my birthday. We all had a good time eating and playing ping-pong. Those attending were Richard and Andrea, Kellie Wing, Vinny Lima, Sarah, Phil and Zack Lynch, Jessie Hart and Kyle Komulainen.

Last week, Tommy Poland had me for lunch for my birthday, also there were Joan Poland and Evelyn Dunn. We get together at each other's homes on our birthdays each year. I had a great time.

I received a note from Charlene Hoyt, who used to live across the way from us, and I miss seeing her. She said she will stop by sometime. It will be good to catch up on her news.

Happy Birthday to these celebrating in August. They are: former President Clinton, Travis Cox, Wesley Cox, Rachel Curtis, Beverly Dayton, Gordon Dillingham, Pt Lawrence, Claribel Poland, Brad Record, Burnie Rice, Beverly Stevens and Sally Wing. A special birthday wish to my brother, Phelps Poland.

Quote of the week: "I have learned that you should underestimate when guessing an adult's age or weight."

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. We missed last week's deadline by just a couple of hours, and we apologize for not getting in that the church held a supper last Thursday.

Dyana-Marie Dyke celebrated her 16th birthday last Thursday.

We saw in last week's paper that John Holiday, a well-loved and well-known pastor who speaks at the Albany church every now and again, celebrated his 60th birthday on Monday. Happy Birthday, John.

The next church supper will be next Thursday, Aug. 11. Doors open at 5 p.m., and sit down is at 5:30. The cost is $6 per adult, $3 for children and they serve the best breads, casseroles and pies. If you want a seat, show up early. We went to last week's supper and it filled up fast. The food was excellent, and, as always, the company was wonderful. These suppers are so very nice to go to — you sit down with other folks (some you may not know) and the members of the church (who have also prepared the food) will bring dishes of delicious foods to you and your table. You help each other out with serving, and enjoy the meal. It's just great all-around — you meet great people, eat wonderful, filling food, and help the church out at the same time.

We see that the folks on the corner of Conner Road have removed the trailer and there's been a great deal of activity there — at this writing, they've got a nice start on the foundation. Quite a lovely spot, there.

The Albany Improvement Association is still looking for good, saleable donations. You should contact Tammy Tanguay or Buzzie Lapham if you have anything you wish to donate. Both ladies would enjoy hearing from you.

The strawberries at the Barton's Farm may be gone, but their farm stand is open. We've also noticed that the flowers at K-D's Acres are looking absolutely fabulous. We always admire her poppies and those pale, pink lilies.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

East Bethel

by Nancy Mercer

Nina Mollicone and her mother, Marilyn Mollicone, took a trip to eastern and central Aroostook County from July 24 through 29. All they saw was trees and potato fields for miles on end.

Jack and Lucy Nordahl returned from Lily Bay Campgrounds on Moosehead Lake on July 31 after a weeks camping. The weather was perfect for the week. While there they ran into Amos and Koral Kimball and family. Koral's family was there, also.

Paul and Charlotte Kimball, ruby Coolidge, and Scott and Wendy Anis attended Jerry and Wendy Bernier's wedding on July 30 in Bryant Pond.

Donald Kimball is at the Veterans' Home in South Paris. He has Parkinson's now and Joan brings him up occasionally to visit Richard and Pat.

Arlene Harrington visited with Judy Smith and family in Surrey from July 19 through 25.

Danielle Bernier and Anita Nelson returned home on July 31 after visiting with Andre and Flossie Bernier.

Mike and Nancy Antonelli of Texas visited Andre and Flossie Bernier from July 27 to 31. Ryan Bernier of South Carolina visited the Berniers from July 29 through 31. They were all visiting for Jerry and Wendy's wedding on July 30.

The grange supper schedule is as follows: August 20 with baked beans and hotdogs and possibly sweet corn; September 17 with baked chicken breast; October 8 with a ham harvest supper; October 22 with beef stew; and November 12 with a turkey supper. On September 17 there will be barn tours in the area and the grange will have coffee and lemonade with donuts on sale at the hall. Also, in the town there is in the planning, a barn dance. There will be a humorist after the October 8 supper, upstairs. The time has not yet been confirmed for this.

Lovely weather we have been having, but we need rain now. God Bless the Troops.

From

Oxford County Democrats

Gov. John Baldacci was in the Bethel area for several events on Thursday, July 28.

Bethel's Best Pizza, a Dirigo Choice small business, was the first stop of the afternoon with the governor offering remarks on the success of the Dirigo Health Plan, a nationally recognized model of containing healthcare costs and extending health insurance coverage to individuals and small businesses in Maine.

Scott and Robin Mills of Bethel, owners of Bethel's Best, welcomed the governor and State Senator Bruce Bryant to their business. Others in attendance included individuals from the Chamber, town officials, and individuals interested in signing up for Dirigo Choice, which has become Anthem's most successful new product.

The Aug. 17 Chamber Community Breakfast in Bethel will feature a presentation on Dirigo by the Governor's Office of Health Policy and local insurance representatives.

The Oxford County Democrats raised more than $500 for the Jackson-Silver Post 68's roof replacement fund at the chicken pie supper attended by the governor, Assistant Majority Leader Robert Duplessie, Democratic Party Chair Pat Colwell, Sen. Bryant, Rep. John Patrick, Register of Deeds Jane Rich, and friends from around the county.

The governor's remarks focused on the accomplishments of the past three years in achieving a balanced budget despite federal cutbacks, establishing Dirigo Health, making substantial investment in research and development, job creation, education, and taking initial steps toward tax reform. He spoke of the challenges facing Maine, including the possible impact of BRAC closings and the changing economy, and of his commitment to growing Maine's economy.

An afternoon fundraiser for the Oxford County Democratic Committee was held at the home of Henry and Patricia Stewart on Indian Pond in Greenwood with Gov. Baldacci offering remarks highlighting environmental initiatives, including the work of the Mahosuc Land Trust, and the Creative Economy, highlighting the local initiatives including the Community Conference and the pilot project through local adult education.

Oxford County Democratic Chair Cathy Newell held a brief county committee meeting following the dinner. Plans were announced for upcoming parades and fairs, and for the supper on Sept. 30 in Norway to benefit domestic violence causes, and for the upcoming Democratic Family Festival and Muskie Lobster Bake on Aug. 7 at Thomas Point Beach with Gen. Wesley Clark as speaker.

For information on the Oxford County Democrats, visit the website, www.mainedems.org or www.oxforddems.org, or call Cathy Newell at 875-2116.

Plans have been made to celebrate the Forest Service Centennial with a Forest Festival on Aug. 25.

One of the best things about the White Mountain National Forest landscape — besides the land itself — are the people who love the forest and step up to care for it however they can.

National Forest managers are lucky to have so many people and groups engaged in caring for the land in so many ways. Each and every partner is valued for their commitment to the land and people in the White Mountain National Forest.

ment to the land and people in the White Mountain National Forest.

Some call the National Forest "the people's forest" because it was created by the grassroots efforts of people who saw the need for land restoration and conservation.

The White Mountain National Forest has enjoyed the attention and stewardship of partners — people who care — ever since. From trail volunteers to outfitter guides, to careful loggers, bird counters, and planning participants, the variety of people helping and the tasks accomplished in the national forest is truly amazing.

Our national forest partners are again stepping up to help, this time to celebrate the Forest Service Centennial at the Forest Festival slated for Aug. 25 at the base of the Mount Washington Auto Road in Gorham, NH.

Among the groups providing information booths and activities during the day-long festivities are: New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services, New Hampshire Division of Fish and Game, New Hampshire Division of Forests and Lands, Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, Appalachian Mountain Club, Timberland Owners Association, Tin Mountain, Project Learning Tree, Swift Water Council of the Girls Scouts, University of New Hampshire Cooperative Extension, Wildcat Mountain, Mount Washington Auto Road.

Everyone is invited to enjoy the day and join in the activities, or just stop by and check out the information booths and take in the scenery.

The festival runs from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., rain or shine. Details, including schedules of activities, tours, and demonstrations, are available at www.fs.fed.us/r9/white, or call (603) 528-8721 (TTY (603) 528-8722) for more information.

The Forest Festival is free and open to all. All events and tours are based at the Mount Washington Auto Road except for the guided tour of the Hubbard Brook Experimental Forest, which will be held at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the Experimental Forest. The tour includes visits to research sites and the explanations of the key findings of long-term forest ecology studies. For more information and directions, contact Amey Bailey at ameybailey@fs.fed.us or call (603) 727-8902. The tour is suitable for all hiking abilities.

The 26th annual Sudbury Canada Days, summer heritage festival of the Bethel Historical Society, will be held Aug. 12-14 this year on the society's grounds, at the Hastings Homestead barn and at Middle Intervale Meetinghouse.

The weekend will begin with the annual Hall Memorial Lecture. This year's lecturer is Bunny McBride, author of a number of works on Indian women and an adjunct lecturer of cultural anthropology at Kansas State University. Her topic will be, "Molly Ockett and other Wabanaki Women Healers."

The lecture is free and open to all interested persons. It begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Dr. Moses Mason House Lecture Hall.

On Saturday, Aug. 13, a number of 18th century re-enactors are scheduled to set up in the morning and go through the day into Sunday, Aug. 14. Among those scheduled to

There also will be several craftspeople lined up for this event as well.

Beginning at 10 a.m., the horseshoe tournament will begin. Participants are welcomed. At 1 p.m., the events for the afternoon will commence, including children's parade (theme this year: Builders of Bethel), children's games, croquet and badminton tournaments, art show, craft demonstrations, historical videos, farming/logging exhibit, and more.

In the evening, there will be the annual log driver's bean supper followed by music from the local banjo band and the activities of the re-enactors.

Sunday will have more activities by re-enactors and in the afternoon, an opportunity to visit the exhibits, tour the 1895 Sunday River Schoolhouse and end with a hymn sing at the Middle Intervale Meetinghouse. The Oxford County Bicentennial Quilt will also be on display throughout the weekend.

Sudbury Canada was Bethel's original name, which was officially used from the date of granting in 1768 until 1796 when it was incorporated as the town we know today. The earlier name honored the original grantees from Sudbury, Mass., who had fought unsuccessfully to conquer Canada in 1690. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts rewarded these veterans with land in the "District of Maine," naming it in honor of their Massachusetts town and the campaign in which they served. Rev. Eliphaz Chapman is generally credited with naming Bethel, which comes from the Bible, meaning "House of God."

Over 1,300 members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For nearly forty years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. Since 1974, the society has operated from its Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, a period house museum and research library. In 1999, it opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national

The new Greenwood Regional Youth Football Program (the 'Spartans') held a free clinic for about three dozen kids Tuesday through Thursday at Telstar High School. Clockwise, from top left: 'quarterback' Bronson Dean gets ready to take a snap; boys practice blocking drills; 'center' Zac Parsons is all business as he prepares to hike the ball; Dean gets a helmet fitted. Real practices begin Aug. 16, with the first game scheduled for Sept. 11, according to head coach Jim Rose. Sign-ups at the Greenwood town office are open until late September. More photos, page 12.

Storytelling Festival in English and Sign Language! At the Charlotte Hobbs Memorial Library in Lovell On Wednesday, August 10 at 7:30 PM

Storytelling? It's not just for kids! For grown-ups — and children who can listen like grown-ups — the Hobbs Library in Lovell will be presenting an extraordinary program of stories at 7:30 pm on Wednesday, August 10, in the Brick Church for the Performing Arts in Lovell Village.

The occasion is the second annual Charlotte Hobbs Community Storytelling Festival, a feast of funny, heartwarming, fascinating stories told by our friends and neighbors. There will be stories of triumphs and miracles, mistakes and pratfalls, funny moments and heartwarming experiences, along with history of the Lovell region and beyond.

Several of the storytellers are participants in the library's summer "Playing with Stories" workshop with Jo Radner.

In addition, this year's festival will have a new feature: storytelling in American Sign Language! Deaf residents of Lovell and nearby towns will share stories about their lives and their families and will also present some traditional humorous tales from deaf culture.

Come hear — and see — your neighbors share stories in this innovative community pot-pourri of historical, personal, and family tales!

The festival is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

For more information, call Library Director Anna Romer at 207-925-3177.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
SHOWING YOUR HOUSE

Ideally, we like the properties we market to look spotless, but even the most impeccable housekeepers find it difficult to keep the house in prime showing condition all the time.

Keeping the beds perpetually made, dishes washed, bathrooms spotless and the closets neat is a lot of work. Is it worth it? It is if you want to get your house sold in a reasonable amount of time for top dollar. Buyers often see normal clutter, and what registers is "this place hasn't been maintained." They see bathtub rings and think "plumber's bills." They see lint under the refrigerator and grease on the electric range and imagine having to replace all of the appliances. When people make their final selection, they may be going on emotion and adrenaline rather than imagination. You can help your agent by minimizing the amount of imagination the buyer will need to fall in love with your home.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771
